

The Serbian Society is very pleased to have been chosen as a partner organization for this year's Parliament Week.

Parliament Week is a programme of events and activities that take place across the whole of the UK aiming to inspire, engage and connect people with parliamentary democracy. Every year a theme is chosen and for 2014 it will be 'Youth, Social Media and Democracy' and parliament week will run from 14th to 20th November 2014.

Given the particular focus this year is on youth and social media, the Serbian Society opened up the running of the project to young people aged 16 to 24 with the Serbian Society acting as the project coordinator providing support and guidance. We (The Serbian Society) have been very lucky to find two exceptional candidates to collaborate with in the form of Dunja Relic and Anastasia Callaghan. Our Project will be called 'Listen to this Wall' and will be looking at youth engagement in politics through the eyes of a Member of Youth Parliament, Dunja Relic and we will showcase a photo-exhibition by Anastasia Callaghan.

The short exhibition will display a series of images in pairs that will highlight the similarities and some of the differences between the UK and Serbia using example images from the two capital cities. This project will be showcased with a Reception on Wednesday 19th November 2014 from 19.00 to 21.00.

The event is free to attend, however there will be a donation box for those who would like to contribute to help cover the costs of the project. As seating is limited please email parliamentweek@serbiansociety.org.uk to reserve your place. Please note this is an English language event.

Listen
to this wall.