

ŽARKO TREBJEŠANIN: Biography

Born in 1950 in Belgrade, where he received his doctorate at the Faculty of Philosophy. Full professor at the University of Belgrade (at the Faculty of Special Education and Rehabilitation, Faculty of Philosophy and Teachers College), where he teaches Psychology of Personality, Non-verbal communication, and Introduction to general psychology.

He is the founder and editor of the edition "Psychology for the curious" in the Institute for textbooks and teaching aids (since 2001), where he published works of Freud, Vygotsky, Fromm, Bettelheim, Morris, Ekman, Bowlby, Seligman, Bass, Kagan and others.

He has published several books on psychology and psychoanalysis: Fromm's dichotomies (1983); The perception of the child in Serbian culture (1991, 2000 and 2008); Psychoanalysis - little Lexicon (1993, 2000 and 2008); What Freud really did not say (1994 and 2005); Politics and Soul (1995); Lexicon psychoanalysis (1996, 1998, 2003, 2005 and 2012); The Psychosocial Effects of War on Children and Parents (2001); Dictionary of Psychology (2000, 2001, 2004 and 2008); Nikola Tesla: personality, neurosis and mission (2006); Dictionary of Jung's concepts and symbols (2008 and 2011); Freud's legacy (2009); What Jung really did not say (2010 and 2012), Psychology of Personality (2010). Prepared and wrote preface for more books on psychoanalysis: H. Klein, Freud, psychoanalysis and literature (1993); Psychoanalysis at the turn of the century (proceedings) (2000); B. Bettelheim, V. Frankl, Killing the Soul (2004); S. Freud, Anthropology essays (2005 and 2011); K. G. Jung, Archetypes and Personality Development (2006); S. Freud, Complete Introduction to Psychoanalysis (2006); A. Adler, Knowledge man / Religion and individual psychology and other essays (2007). Misha Jevtic published a book of conversations called Psychological views of Zarko Trebješanin (2003).

He won the prize "Borislav Stevanović", awarded by the Association of Psychologists of Serbia for scientific contributions to psychology, "Veselin Lučić" for the best professional and scientific work at the University of Belgrade, "Stojan Novakovic" for the best high school textbook, "Živorad - Žiža Vasić" for popularization of modern psychology and "Radoje Domanović» Serbian Writers Association for his contribution to the interpretation of satire.

Scientific studies, essays and interviews have been translated into English, Russian, French, German, Hungarian, Macedonian and Slovenian.