Guest speaker Alan Cumming, Scottish Women's Hospitals website

Commemoration of the women in foreign medical missions in Serbia during the Great War who risked and sacrificed their lives in Serbia and related fronts. Some of them continued to support the Serbs even after the war had ended, most significantly, Lady Paget. Since 2017 marks the centenary of Dr Elsie Inglis' death, the commemoration will pay a special tribute to her life.

Graham Perolls, Founder of Hospices of Hope, the leading provider of palliative care in south-east Europe whose mission is to support the development of hospice care services and education in South East Europe and has been working with its Serbian country partner BELhospice since 2004. Hospices of Hope is now looking to establish the first in-patient teaching hospice in Serbia in Belgrade. This 12 bed unit will provide a Centre of Excellence in the capital that will offer multi-disciplinary holistic care to terminally ill patients, particularly those with more complex needs.

If you are not able to attend this event, but would like to make a donation, please visit website: www.hospicesofhope.co.uk/belgrade-hospice-appeal/ or contact Vanessa@hospicesofhope.co.uk

"Music of great delicacy and charm" Chris Parker.
"Beautiful music that soothes and relaxes" Ian Mann.
www.brancostoysin.co.uk

Around the Globe Piano Music Festival is an annual piano performing contest promoting contemporary piano composers from all around the world that are less known in the UK. The festival, run by pianists Marina Petrov and Maya Jordan, gives great opportunity to represent many Serbian composers as well. For the last three years, in the heart of London, we could enjoy piano music performances by Vasilije Mokranjac, Ivan Jeftic, Vera Milankovic, Ognjen Bogdanovic and many others. Those brought much recognition and winners' prizes. Visit www.agpianomusicfestival.co.uk

Info and bookings: agpianomusicfestival@gmail.com or 07984857355

All donations welcome! Suggested donations of £20 could be paid at the door or to the account: Around the Globe Piano Music Festival, NatWest Bank, account number 65798554, sort code 51-50-01, ref.
